IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Miss Beveridge Becomes the Bride of Dr. Maurice E. Miller.

Miss Fuller and Miss Tyler introduced at Large Reception—General and Mrs. Nelson A. Miles and Senator Keen Entertained Dinner Guests—A Riding Club Organized.

A wedding of special interest to resident society was that of Miss May Beveridge, daughter of Mrs. M. W. Beveridge, and Dr. Maurice E. Miller, formerly of Philadelphia, but now of Washington, which occurred at the Beveridge residence, 1618 H Street, at 8 o'clock last night. The circular window in which the ceremony was performed was embowered in palms and American Beauty roses, while the general decorations of the spacious drawing room were carried out in pink chrysanthemums and fern. The second parlor and dining room were aglow with poinsettia and holly and a screen of palms and other foliage plants in the rear of the reception hall screened Haley's orchestra from view.

The bride descended the stairway and entered the drawing room with her uncle, Major R. H. Montgomery, U. S. A., retired, by whom she was given in marriage.

The very beautiful wedding gown was of white crepe of a soft satin-lustrous fabric that fell about the pretty figure in clinging, graceful folds. Duchess lace formed the yoke and sleeves and at the corsage gleamed the groom's gift, a pair of Cupid's wings, of diamonds and pearls. A spray of orange blossoms held the tulle veil in place and an armful of bride roses and lilies of the valley were carried in place of the conventional bouquet. Miss Ethel Miller and Mr. Claude Miller, the groom's sister and brother, were the only attendants, the former preceding the bride, wearing liberty silk of delicate pink that harmonized effectively with the bride's color and carrying a bouquet of pink roses. Only the members of the two families were present at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Kim. About 250 guests attended the ceremony which followed Mrs. Beveridge receiving in a handsome reception toilet of black net and lace over silver-white silk.

Mrs. Walter Conwell Shoup, of New York, an elder daughter of the house, whose marriage occurred about a year and a half ago, has been making a visit to her mother, and another house guest was Mrs. W. H. Smith, also of New York. Other out-of-town guests were Dr. Fisher, of Philadelphia, the groom's uncle, under whom he studied when a student at Jefferson Medical College, of that city; and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Burling, of New York. Others present were ex-Mayor Emery and family, Commissioner Macfarland, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gale, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson and the West Davids, Dr. and Mrs. Yagel, of the Chinese Legation; Dr. and Mrs. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Kaufmann, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Burdette, Mr. and Mrs. Teel, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hibbs, Lieutenant and Mrs. M. M. Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Benjamin and Miss Benjamin, Dr. Swann, Mr. Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Fennell, Dr. and Mrs. William H. Hawk, Mrs. Bourne, and Mrs. Young.

Later in the evening Dr. and Mrs. Miller left for a short trip with the couple, and of returning in time for the Christmas holidays. The bride was attired for traveling in blue broadcloth with a blue velvet jacket slithered with straps of the broadcloth and a modish blue velvet hat. They will reside at 1618 H Street.

Senator Keen entertained at dinner last night, when his guests included the Secretary of War and Mrs. Root, the Attorney General and Mrs. Griggs, Senator and Mrs. McMillin, Senator and Mrs. Wetmore, Mrs. Slater, Miss Gwynne, Miss Elizabeth Keen, Senator Aldrich, Senator Allison, Senator Wolcott, and Mr. Clement A. Griscom, of Philadelphia.

Gen. and Mrs. Anson Mills gave another beautifully appointed dinner last night. Their guests were the Chinese Minister and Mrs. Wu, Surgeon General and Mrs. Sternberg, General and Mrs. Sawtelle, Mrs. Rhine, Col. and Mrs. William H. Carter, Miss Kathleen Kline, daughter of the host and hostess; Miss Constance Mills, and Mr. Wigmore, and Mr. Arnold, of Fort Myer. The table was floridly decorated with pink carnations and fern.

General Mills will take Miss Kline and Miss Constance Mills to Point, to attend a hop to be given during the holidays.

Mrs. Harlan entertained a number of ladies at luncheon yesterday, the guests being invited to meet Mrs. A. H. Snow, who has lately arrived here from Indianapolis.

The debut of Miss Fanny Fuller, the sixth and youngest daughter of the Chief Justice and Mrs. Fuller, was marked by one of the largest and most fashionable teas of the year.

Mrs. Fuller, in black lace, received in the library of the spacious old mansion in F Street, where the family have resided for years. Beside her stood the debutante, who wore a lovely gown of embroidered white silk muslin and carried a big, fragrant bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Hugh C. Wallace, of Tacoma, Washington, who is the daughter of the hostess, who will chaperon Miss Fuller this winter, and who assisted her mother in welcoming their large number of callers, was dressed in yellow crepe de chine. Mrs. N. L. Francis also aided her mother in receiving. The young ladies on social duty were Misses Leila and Constance Griggs, Miss Hitchcock, Misses Hagan, Miss Brewer, Miss Foraker, Miss Hagner, Miss Carlisle, Miss Sargent, Miss Austin, and Miss Ketterlee. The library was decorated in palms and all kinds of beautiful flowers, the majority of which were sent to the pretty bud, and both the dining room and the porch which opened from it were hung with Southern smilax and graceful Christmas vines. Several hundred guests from the leading official, Supreme Court, diplomatic, and resident circles were present.

The debutante has recently returned from Germany, where she has been an earnest student for years. She is a very pretty blonde, and has a fine voice, which was splendidly developed during her life abroad.

Another fashionable assemblage paid tribute to Miss Tyler, the debutante daughter of Col. and Mrs. Augustus C. Tyler, who was presented at an afternoon reception. The hostess was really handsome in Irish polka, with contrasting effects in black and Miss Edna Tyler, who assisted her in receiving, wore a graceful toilette of blue crepe de chine and lace. The debutante's gown was a misty web of white lace, and she carried orchids and lilies of the valley. The cheery spirit of the Yuletide was evidenced by the holly and other Christmas decorations of the beautiful home, and the tea table was aglow with pink carnations. Mrs. von Breunling, with her husband, Mr. Alfred von Breunling, are on a visit to Colonel and Mrs. Tyler, who was also of the receiving party, and among others who aided in the general entertainment of the afternoon were Mrs. Lincoln, Miss Lillie McCauley, Miss Louise Leber, Miss Julia Keellogg, Miss Katherine Deering, Miss Beale Ferguson, Miss Louise Kinglake, and Miss Tyler, of Alabama.

Senator William V. Sullivan of Mississippi and Mrs. Marie Newman Atkins of this city were married yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the pastoral residence of Dr. C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

dece of St. Stephen's Catholic Church. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present at the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. W. S. Coughy, pastor of the church. The bride was attired for traveling in oxford grey, with hat and gloves of the same color. After the ceremony at St. Stephen's, the bride departed at once for the former's Southern home to remain until after the holidays. They will return about the middle of next month and spend the remainder of the winter at the Ebbit. The bride is the daughter of the late Dr. Newman and a sister of Dr. Harry Newman. She is a graduate of Georgetown convent and is an excellent musician. The illness of Senator Sullivan last summer delayed the marriage, which was to have taken place at that time.

Mrs. Sanger entertained a number of young people at dinner last night.

The Fort Myer hops are to be changed to alternate on Fridays with the small and early dances. The first entertainment of the latter will be given at Rauscher's next Friday evening.

The marriage of Miss Lottie Francis Smith, the daughter of Mr. B. P. Smith, and Mr. John Johnson Doobar, of St. Paul, Minn., was celebrated at the residence of the latter will be given at Rauscher's next Friday evening.

A dance is to be given later in the season at Rauscher's by Gen. and Mrs. Anson Mills for Miss Mills and her cousin, Miss Kathleen Kline. They will also give a number of luncheons and dinners for them in January.

Mrs. Frank Stanislaus Gannon will give a tea Saturday, December 25, to introduce Miss Gannon, who has recently returned from abroad.

Major F. Puger, U. S. A., and family have moved to their new residence, 1846 Sixteenth Street.

EZEQUI CLAIM SETTLED

Morocco Finally Yields to the Demands of America.

Consul General Gannone Notifies the State Department that the Moorish Government has paid the $5,000 indemnity for the burning of a Citizen of the United States.

Consul General Gannone, at Tangiers, Morocco, reported to the State Department by telegram yesterday that the Moorish Government has paid the $5,000 demanded by the United States for the killing of Marcus Ezequi, a naturalized American citizen, at Fez. This disposes of an incident which threatened to disrupt the friendly relations between Morocco and the United States.

Notice had been served on Morocco that she must pay the indemnity, and three weeks ago the Navy Department assigned the auxiliary cruiser Dixie to the duty of backing up Consul General Gannone's demand for payment. Later the date of sending the warship to Morocco was postponed until next February, when the great Mohammedan feast of the Moors, which lasts six weeks, will be over. It will now not be necessary to send a warship to a Moorish land.

Ezequi was killed by a Moor in the streets of Fez, the official residence of the Sultan. He resided there, and in a recent fight with a Moor, he was shot a man in the foot. A mob seized Ezequi and burned him to death. The United States Government acquiesced in the protection of foreigners in Morocco for Ezequi's death, but insisted that the leaders of the mob be punished. Morocco made no effort to apprehend the offenders, although they were well known, and the Government, after a sufficient length of time, made a claim for $5,000 on Morocco for the failure to bring the leaders to justice.

The Sultan's Government declined to pay on the ground that Ezequi had forfeited his citizenship by remaining in Morocco for a period equal to that necessary for him to reside in the United States to secure citizenship. There is a provision in the treaty between the civilized nations, including the United States, for the protection of foreigners in Morocco, that a Moor abroad who returns to Morocco must acknowledge the sovereignty of the Sultan or quit the country after his residence there for a period equal to the time of residence necessary to obtain naturalization in his adopted land.

It takes five years for a foreigner to obtain naturalization in the United States, and he had resided in Morocco on his return longer than that time. The State Department rejected the Moorish contention, principally on the ground that Ezequi had not been called on to quit the country or acknowledge allegiance to the Sultan.

The volunteers are enthusiastic over the general order providing for their return home, as they did not expect to receive it so soon. Mr. May states that he will go on to Washington with his attorney at once and lay his case in detail before the State Department. He will not discuss his action further than this.

Admiral Porter's Portrait.

The report that the portrait of the late Admiral David D. Porter had disappeared from the Corcoran Gallery is explained by the officials of the gallery by the statement that the portrait had been transferred from one room to another. It is said that Mrs. Charles Campbell, daughter of the admiral and one of his heirs, did not consent to having the portrait placed in the Corcoran Gallery, but has desired always to have it conveyed to the Senate. The painting is now on view in the gallery.
